They certainly are worth their weight in gold. They save the price of themselves in fuel in one year, and they are clean and convenient, and also they give an even heat in all corners of the house. Just come in and ask for information and cuts and see for yourself. The prices are so much lower than an old-style furnace that you can't afford to pass them up.

The Importance Of Encouraging Western Settlers

The many advantages that would accrue to Canada from the settlement of the vast unoccupied areas of fertile agricultural lands in the West are fairly well recognized by all people, yet the work of peopling these vast lands languishes and proceeds almost at a snail's pace.

There is hardly a Canadian problem today, the solution of which, wholly or largely, is not to be found in a large increase in the population of the country.

If it is the huge national debt created by the war and the consequent heavy burden of taxation. The solution is not so much in decreased expenditures or newer and additional means of revenue, but in a larger number of people to produce new wealth and to carry a share of the national load, thereby reducing the burden all round.

Is it the problem of making the National Railway pay? The solution is not to be found in higher rates for passengers and freight, which would operate to further decrease traffic, nor solely in economies in management and operation, to which there is a limit if efficient service is not to be destroyed, but through increased population and increased production creating greater traffic to keep the railways profitably busy.

Is it a steady output for our factories and uninterrupted employment for Canada's artisans? The solution is more people in Canada requiring the output of our factories.

Other countries, already blessed with fairly large populations, can well depend upon the natural increase of their people. But not so a young country like Canada, an empire in itself covering half a continent and possessing untold wealth in unworked natural resources. Canada now requires, and for many years to come will require, just what the United States required throughout the Nineteenth Century, and that is a large and steady stream of immigrants. The United States, with its more than one hundred million people, can now afford to check the stream, but Canada needs to encourage it.

In the ten or fifteen years before the war, immigration poured into Canada at a rate never experienced prior to that time. The mere handful of people in the West doubled, trebled, quadrupled; unorganized territories became flourishing provinces; hamlets grew into towns, towns were transformed into thriving cities. Why? Because the incoming settlers brought money and goods with them, settled on vacant lands and began to produce. As they produced new wealth from the soil, the demand for the factory products of the East grew by leaps and bounds. Factories which had remained at a standstill in volume of production year after year, or grew so slowly that it was almost imperceptible, suddenly found it necessary to build a new storey, add addition, or a new building altogether in order to meet the demand. Labor was at a premium and unemployment practically unknown. The railways were congested with more traffic than they could handle. More railways had to be built, and thus more employment was created. The mines were busy and so was the lumber industry. It was all directly traceable to the immigration and the enormous resultant increase in agricultural production.

With so recent an object lesson before the country it is amazing to find a very large number of people opposing immigration to Canada now when, in order to carry the burdens imposed on the Dominion by reason of the war, the need for more people and largely increased production is so evident. Restrictions have been placed on immigration to Canada which were undreamed of a few years ago, and of course, the result is that, as one speaker at a recent public meeting said, had they been in force at the time our parents and grand-parents immigrated to this country, probably one-half of the people now here would not be here. Stringent as present restrictions are, there is persistent demand in some quarters that they be made even more stringent, while some advocate absolute prohibition of immigration.

Possibly the Immigration laws of both Canada and the United States were too lax in the past in one respect in that the bars were not kept up against the admission of the diseased, the mentally and morally deficient, and the criminal class. All such should be rigidly excluded. But lack of money should not be made a deterrent to anybody who is physically fit, morally sound, and mentally alert, capable and willing to work.

In another respect, too, Canada was at fault in the past in its treatment of new comers. It is not sufficient to induce people to come to assist in the development of the country and on their arrival to leave them to shift for themselves, which so often led to failure and shipwreck of their lives through ignorance of the conditions and customs of the land of their adoption. A recent little "Manual of Citizenship" issued by the Department of Immigration and Colonization for the guidance of new arrivals is, therefore, an encouraging innovation. In fact, the change in name from Department of Immigration to "Immigration and Colonization" is in itself significant as an indication of a new and better policy. It is important, however, that the work of Immigration should not be stopped or checked by too rigid laws and regulations. On the contrary, increased efforts should be put forth to secure new settlers of the right type.

person, asserts Edward Brown, secretary of the National Poultry Council. Mr. Brown says that in the United States and Canada it is stated the average consumption is nearly 300 eggs per unit annually. Basing his estimates on the recent census figures for Great Britain, he computes that each person in England last year ate 95 eggs.

Persistence of British Post. An instance of British postal delay but an equal testimonial to its persistence, was the delivery at Prince Albert to J. Harris, an Imperial veteran, of a packet of cigarettes mailed him while he was engaged in the South African War, from England in 1902. The package indicates that during its 18 years rambling it has been to India, New Zealand, and nearly all over the globe.

More Acres Seeded To Rye

Estimated That Crop of 1922 Will be Large.

It is estimated that Southern Alberta and Southern Saskatchewan are this year seeding about 550,000 acres to fall-planted rye, as compared with 350,000 acres last year, an increase of about 50,000 acres, or about 15 per cent. It is further calculated that, given an average yield per acre, the rye crop of 1922 in Southern Alberta and Saskatchewan will give the farmers of these districts three or four million dollars more than they will receive this year.

THE ORIGIN OF GALL STONES

They are simply dried bile made up of crystalline constituents of that fluid. Very common is this disease among merchants, clergy-men, shop girls and those of sedentary habits. Prevention consists in maintaining correct action of the liver and bowels, and this is speedily accomplished by using Dr. Hamilton's Pills. No person using Dr. Hamilton's Pills will be subject to bilious fits. Sound digestion, good appetite, a clear color will evidence the health giving properties of Dr. Hamilton's Pills which are safe and best for general family use. When a laxative is needed, when you feel out of sorts, or find the time passing, use Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Bitterroot. See all dealers or The Cataract Co., Montreal.

Wheat Yield in Saskatchewan.

The wheat yield of Saskatchewan is estimated for the recent year to be 115,082,000 bushels; oats, 196,120,000 bushels; barley, 13,500,000; flax, 4,560,000 bushels; and rye, 4,053,000 bushels.

It is due to impurities in the water, causes cramps, diarrhoea, headache. Those who take twenty drops of Nervine in sweetened water usually get quick relief. It is really wonderful how good old Nervine fixes up a sour upset stomach, how it stops hiccupping, how quickly it puts a stop to those nasty attacks of gas. Every home should keep a bottle or two of trusty old Nervine on hand. 25 cents everywhere.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS ARE THE REMEDY FOR KIDNEY ILLS.

Principal of Saskatchewan Schools Tells Out of His Own Experience What to Do When the Kidneys are Diseased.

Webb, Sask. — (Special). — That there is one sovereign remedy for kidney disease, and that remedy is Dodd's Kidney Pills is the outspoken opinion of Mr. George Hutchings, principal of the public schools here.

"I suffered for two years from diseased kidneys," Principal Hutchings states. "I was advised about a year ago to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. They have helped me more than any remedy I have ever tried. I find that my health has been greatly improved."

"I can conscientiously recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to anyone suffering from kidney disease. I would not be without them."

Dodd's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys. They help the kidneys to do their full work of straining all the impurities out of the blood. The result is new health and energy all over the body. Ask your neighbors about Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Captain Swift Joined Queen's Own Rifles in 1861.

Captain Charles Swift, leader of the bugle band of the Queen's Own Toronto Rifles of Canada, has the longest service of any military man in the regiment. It was as a triangle player that Captain Swift joined the Queen's Own Regiment at Ridgeway in 1861, and led the band on the trip to the coronation of King Edward. Leading musicians from all parts of the world have congratulated Capt. Swift on the wonderful band he leads.

A Prime Dressing for Wounds.—In some factories and workshops carbon steel is kept for use in cantering wounds and cuts sustained by the workmen. Far better to keep on hand a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. It is just as quick in action and does not scar the skin or burn the flesh.

"There was a strange man at the door," announced the new servant from Boston. "What does he want?" asked the master of the house, impatiently. "Begging your pardon, sir," replied the servant, a shade of disapproval manifest in his voice. "He wants a bath, but what he is asking for is something to eat."

Proves Irrigation Is a Success

Man in Third Season Owns Farm and Equipment.

Proof of success in the irrigated section in Alberta is exemplified in a farmer named Williamson. After working as a hired man he rented an engine and ploughing outfit on an acreage basis and with the proceeds of that season's ploughing purchased an irrigated farm of eighty acres and broke it in. In the fall he bought a threshing machine and paid for it through the proceeds of the season's threshing operations. This is his third season's farming and he owns a farm, threshing and ploughing outfit and tractor, all fully paid for.

GOOD HEALTH AND GOOD SPIRITS

Depend Upon the Condition of the Blood—Keep It Rich, Red and Pure.

When a doctor tells you that you are anemic, he simply means, in plain English, that your blood is weak and watery. But this condition is one that may easily pass into a hopeless decline if prompt steps are not taken to enrich the blood. Poor blood, weak, watery blood is the cause of headaches and lumbaches, loss of appetite, poor digestion, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervous, irritability and many other troubles. To poor blood is due the pimples and blotches, the muddy complexion that disfigures the face, the lack of good health, a good complexion and a cheerful manner, the blood must be kept rich, red and pure. This is easily done through the use of a blood enriching tonic like Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The whole mission of this medicine is to help enrich the blood which reaches every nerve and every organ in the body, bringing it health, strength and new activity. That is why people who occasionally use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills always feel bright, active and strong.

Mrs. E. C. Cook, Simcoe, Ont., gives strong testimony to the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills when the blood is in an anemic condition, she says: "I have been a sufferer for some years from a run down condition of the system. I suffered from pains in the back, twitching of the nerves and muscles, my appetite was poor, I had indigestion and would get drowsy after eating. My hands and feet were always cold, and though I was constantly dosing the medicine I took it was now a pleasure. For this condition my thanks are due Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I cannot praise them too highly. You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

SUFFERING OF YOUNG WOMEN

This Letter Tells How It May be Overcome—All Mothers Interested.

Toronto, Ont.—"I have suffered since I was a school girl with pain in my left or sometimes both sides of my back, growing worse each year until I was all run down. I was so weak that I was unable to do any work. I tried several doctors and patent medicines, but was only relieved for a short time. Some of the doctors wanted to perform an operation, but my father objected. Finally I learned through my mother of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and how she had cured her troubles. I am now as well as I feel as if I had saved my life. You may use my letter to help other women as I am glad to recommend the medicine."—Mrs. H. A. Goodman, 14 McEwen Ave., Toronto.

Those who are troubled as Mrs. Goodman was should immediately seek restoration to health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Those who need special advice may write to Lydia E. Pinkham, Medford (Mass.), Lynn, Mass. These letters will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

A New Venture at Wabamun

If the present plans of a new fur-farming enterprise carry out successfully, Persian lamb coats will be grown hereabouts by the hundred.

Mr. W. C. Dunn, who is President of the Fairacres Farms Co., states that a Karakul sheep ranch will shortly be established at their place near Wabamun, and it is proposed to make it the largest fur farm in Canada.

Mr. Dunn's company has applied to the Alberta Utilities Commission for permission to sell stock, and proposes to operate a general sheep, fur and poultry breeding business.

The concern will start with 2000 native sheep, in addition to a herd of Karakul sheep. From the latter the company expects to have, three years hence, 1000 Persian lamb pelts to sell at $20 apiece, and 100 head of breeding stock at $100 each.

The company is capitalised at $75,000 and has five quarter-sections of land north of Lake Wabamun.

This concern has nothing to do with the Cat-and-Rat Ranch, for which "an enterprising local organiser was trying to get support a short time ago.

Sara Had a Bunch Around Her

Six generations of one family whose aggregate ages amount to 341 years, have been discovered at Nelson House, near The Pas, Manitoba.

They belong to the Cree tribe of Indians, and were photographed at the payment of treaty in July. It is believed that this established a record, at least among the Indian of Canada.

The names, ages, and relationship of the family follow:

Sarah Donkey, age 112; Caroline Spence, aged 90, daughter; John Donkey, aged 70, grandson; Ina Spence, aged 48, great-granddaughter; Sarah Donkey, age 21, great-grand-daughter; James Donkey, aged 2, great-grand-grand-daughter.

Sarah Donkey, the first, was born at York Factory, of full blooded Cree parents. She retains possession of all her faculties excepting her eyesight which is failing.

To attend a treaty, she travelled in a canoe for 150 miles and lived in a tepee for three weeks while the treaty festivities were on.

Welcome Home to Captain and Mrs. Pugh.

Stony Plain town and district were well represented at the Indian Agency, Winterburn, on the evening of Wednesday, October 5.

The occasion was a welcome home to Captain Pugh and his bride, recently arrived from the Old Country.

Though the threshing season is a very busy time, that could not stand in the way of such an opportunity to extend the heartfelt goodwill of his many friends, and to express the high esteem in which Captain "Jack" Pugh is held by all the country-side.

Traffic was heavy on the Winterburn trail, and motor lights gleamed in every direction, all with one objective—the beautiful and hospitable home of Captain and Mrs. Pugh.

It would take too much of "The Sun's" bright energies to enumerate all who were there, or to catalogue the costly array of presents that somehow had crept into the home, to testify in a very inadequate way what the givers would like "Jack" and his bride to know.

A very pleasant time was spent, with intervals for music, stories, prose and verse. The Captain was in fine form, and rose to the occasion as to the manner born; and Mr. Pugh Sr. sang two of his old favorite songs as no one else could sing them.

With the cutting of the beautiful three-tier wedding cake came the occasion of toasting the bride and bridegroom, and this was done with great gusto.

The happy time was all too brief, and everyone came away hoping that the newly-wedded couple would enjoy a long, happy and prosperous life.

Fire Prevention Week.

This is Fire Prevention Week in Alberta.

More than 300 persons in Canada annually lose their lives as a result of fire. In addition, there is irrevocable loss of money, labor, time, and natural resources.

This loss imposes a burdensome tax upon industry and thrift, and substantially adds to the cost of living.

It has been asserted that at least 80 per cent of the fires are due to inexcusable ignorance or neglect.

During Fire Prevention Week, citizens are recommended to inspect their homes, stores, offices and other buildings, remove rubbish and otherwise reduce fire hazards.

Co-operation from municipal authorities, as well as from those who make a livelihood in the forests, is sought.

Good Times Acoming.

"The depression has passed, and we are now at the beginning of an extended era of prosperity," so say the optimistic experts. Things have adjusted themselves so rapidly, that this has been accomplished much sooner than was predicted a year ago.

One good sign of the times is the large number of cars, etc., which the enterprising Proprietors of the Stony Plain Garage have been enabled to sell this season—and we are now just at the time when Farmers invest in that Car which he and the family have long waited for.

Following are some of the purchasers of machines from Miller & Baron, Stony Plain Garage:

J. Straasburger, a Truck; Statzik & Kap, a Fordson Tractor and Separator; Henry Enders, an Oldsmobile; Overlands to Mr. Minchau of Ellerslie, and Jacob A. Baron, Stony Plain; Chevrolets to Val. Senger of Golden Spike, Ph. P. Miller, Philip Trapp, Andy Kotachorofsky. Purchasers of Ford Cars were: Jacob Enders, W. Austin, Roper Berry, George Truax, John Schitt; Mr. Ryley of Gainford, and Mr. Darvish of Tomahawk.

Miller & Baron now have on order a consignment of Fords, which will shortly arrive. If you wish one from this bunch, communicate with Mr. John H. Miller or Mr. P. Baron, and insure against a disappointment.

Harris flashed his teeth with little relish. His daughter was very, very much to him, and an open rupture with her was among the last things to be imagined. Still, she must learn that the liberty of speech he allowed her did not imply equal liberty of action.

His wife, too, had behaved most incredibly. After all, perhaps he had been mean with Jim. No doubt he would meet the boy in Plaville or somewhere in the district before long, and he would then have a frank talk with him. And he would say nothing more of the incident to his wife. He was beginning to feel almost amiable again when recollection of Beulah, and the regard which she was evidently cultivating toward Travers, ennobled his returning spirits like a cold douche. It must not come to that, whatever happened.

"You better get over to Grant's, Allan. If you're gone," he said as he left the table. "I've some shears to change that'll keep me busy until you get back."

An hour later Allan returned, accompanied by George Grant, and operations in the field were resumed. Father and son were both anxious to make up for lost time, and they worked that night long after their usual hour for quitting. Just as the sun was setting George Grant left a last tank of water at the end of the field and started for home. As he passed the buildings he saw Beulah in the garden, and leaned over the fence for a short chat with her. The girl was thanking the gathering for his return of her cheeks. George continued on his way, but still the steady panting of the engine, louder now, it seemed, that during the day, came pulsing down on the calm night air. The long twilight dragged on. The light faded out of the east and south, and at its place like a great sheet of crimson ran only in the north-west. It was quite dark when the two men, tired and weary, came in at the close of their long day's labour.

The table was set for two. "We have had our supper," Mary explained. "We thought we wouldn't wait any longer."

"That's all right," said Harris, trying to be genial. But he found it harder than he had supposed. He was very tired, and somewhat embarrassed following the unpleasantness at noon. He had no thought of apologizing, either to wife or daughter; on the contrary, he intended to make it quite clear to them that they had been at fault in the matter, but he would take his time about reopening the subject. By waiting a day or two before reproving them he would show that he was acting in a judicial spirit, and without any influence of temper.

Still . . . it was provoking that there should be nothing to talk about. When supper was finished Allan went to the stables to see final attention to the horses—a duty that had always fallen to Jim—and Harris, after a few minutes' quiet rest in his chair, began to remove his hat.

"The cows are not milked, John," said his wife. She tried to speak in a matter-of-fact way, but the tremor in her voice betrayed the import of the simple statement.

Harris paused with a boot half unlaced. While his recollection of Beulah's demand was clear enough, it had not occurred to him that the girl actually would say by her guns. He had told her that she should milk the cows tonight as usual, and he had assumed as a matter of course that she would do so. He was not accustomed to being disobeyed.

"Where's Beulah?" he demanded. "I guess she's in her room."

Harris laced up his boot. Then he started upstairs.

"Don't be too hard on her, John," urged his wife, with a little catch in her voice. "I won't be too hard on anybody," he replied curtly. "It's a strange thing you wouldn't see that she did as she was told. I suppose I have to play away in the field until dark and then come in and do another half day's work because my women folk are too lazy or stubborn to do it themselves."

If this outbreak was intended to crush Mary Harris it had a very different effect. She seemed straightened up under the attack; the colour came back to her cheeks, and there was a defiant gleam in her eyes.

"John Harris," she said. "You know better than to say that your women folk are either lazy or stubborn, but there's a point where imposition does even the imposition of a husband, has to stop, and you've reached that point. You didn't have to stay in the field until dark. There's another day coming, and the ploughing'll keep it. Isn't that the harvest? It was just your own contrariness that kept you there. You fired the best man you ever had to-day in a fit of temper, and now you're trying to take it out on us."

Harris looked at her for a moment, without speaking, as he continued up the stairs. The difficulties of his position were increasing: it was something new to be assailed from the bosom of his own family. He felt that he was being very unfairly used, but he had no intention of shrinking from his duty as a husband and father, even if his discharge should bring pain to all of them.

He found Beulah in her room, ostensibly reading.

"Why are the cows not milked?" he demanded. "I thought I made it clear to you at noon that they wouldn't be milked by me," she answered, "and there didn't seem to be anybody else hankering for the job."

"Beulah," he said, trying to speak calmly, "don't you think this nonsense has gone far enough?"

"Too far," she agreed. "But you started it—let's see you stop it." "Beulah," he said, with rising anger, "I won't allow you to talk to me like that. Remember I'm your father, and you've a right to do as you're told. Haven't I given you everything—given you a home, and all that, and are you going to defy me in my own house?"

"I don't want to defy you," she answered, "but if you're going to let your temper run away with you, you can put on the brakes yourself. And as for all you've done for me—maybe I'm ungrateful, but it doesn't look half so big from my side of the fence."

"Well, what more do you want?" he demanded.

"For one thing, I wouldn't mind having a father."

"What do you mean? Ain't I your father?"

"No!" she cried. "No! No! There's no father here. You're just the boss—the foreman on the farm. You board with mother and me. We see you at mealtimes. We wouldn't see you then if you didn't have to make use of us in that way. If you have a spare hour you go to town. You're always so busy, busy, with your little things, that you have no time for his things."

"I didn't know it was an offence to be busy," he answered. "It's work that makes money, and I notice you can spend your share. You're never so haughty about me working when you want ten-dollar bill for something. Work may be a disgrace all right from your point of view, but money isn't."

and in this country you don't get much of one without the other. "Now, Dad," she protested. "You're taking me up wrong. I don't think work is a disgrace, and I'm willing to work as hard as anybody, but I do think it's a shame that you should be thinking only of work, work, work, when you don't need to. I'd like to see you think about living instead of working. And we're not living—not really living, you know—we're just existing. Just making little twenty-four hour cycles that don't get us anywhere, except older. Don't you see what I mean? We're living all the time, Dad. When you feed the horses and put them under shelter you can't do anything more for them, but when you feed and shelter your daughter you have only half provided for her, and it's the other half, the starving half, that refuses to starve any longer."

"I'm not kicking on religion, if that's what you mean, Beulah," he said. "You got gold to church as often as you like, and—"

"Oh, it's not religion," she protested. "At least, it's not just going to church, and things like that, although I know it's a part of it. I don't see what you understand. What are we here for, anyway? Come now, you're a man of some sense, and you must have settled that question in your own mind long ago. What's the answer?"

"Well, I'm here just now to tell you those cows are to be milked before—"

"Yes, I dodged that question so long you haven't faced it. But there must be an answer somewhere, or there's no sense in your question. There's Rice; now, he doesn't know there is such a question. How very poor, I don't see how he can grab money, and then, there's Grants. They know there is such a question, and I'm sure that's the extent they'll answer it. You know, I like them, but I never go into their house that I don't feel out of place. I feel like they have something that I haven't—something that makes them very rich and shows it."

"I feel like they have something that I haven't—something that makes them very rich and shows it. I feel like they have something that I haven't—something that makes them very rich and shows it. I feel like they have something that I haven't—something that makes them very rich and shows it."

Says Her Recovery Is Almost Like A Miracle

From Helpless Invalid to Complete Restoration of Health, Strength, and Happiness Is Wonderful Change Mrs. Root Experienced in Three Weeks—Statement One of Most Remarkable on Record.

"Just a week before I started taking Tanlac I was down in bed so crippled up with rheumatism I could not move without help. My son had taken Tanlac, and it had done him wonders of good, so one day he brought home a bottle and said, 'Mother I want you to take this.' When I had finished that bottle, I felt like a different woman, and by the time I had finished my second bottle, I was out in the garden hoeing."

"Tanalac has simply done wonders for me. It almost seems like a miracle. This is the remarkable statement made recently by Mrs. Jennie Root, residing at 1409 Power St., Portland, Oregon, and is only one of tens of thousands from well known men and women who are still testifying to the powers of Tanlac."

Continuing her wonderful statement, Mrs. Root said, "For years I suffered terribly with rheumatism and would lie down in bed for many days at a time. In the last five years there was not a time that I didn't have those rheumatic pains running through my body. About two months ago I got very much worse and my arms and legs were so bad I was almost helpless and couldn't even hold a pen to sign my name. I was so weak I could not do any housework. I couldn't even sleep, and had no rest day or night. Even a little walk would tire me out completely. When I tried to walk I would stagger, and when I tried to sit down I would fall over. I could not get up without some one helping me. I had no appetite and hardly ate enough to keep me alive. I could not stop over far enough to get my shoes on."

"I never knew what a night's sleep was, and would lie awake for hours. At times I would get very cold and would have to get up and sit by the fire all huddled up, and my daughters would 'put hot' water bottles all around me. I was treated by four doctors, and took all kinds of medicine. Nothing ever did me any good. I am just like a different person now. All those terrible aches and pains have left me, and only the other day I was able to walk up four flights of stairs in an office building where I have to work. My appetite is just splendid now, and just today for the first time in years, I felt so hungry that I had to go and eat a piece of pie between meals. In fact, I can't remember the time that I have felt as well as I do now. I have not only regained my health and strength, but I have gained fourteen pounds in weight. To tell you the truth, I wouldn't exchange the benefit I have received from Tanlac for the best ranch in Oregon, and I will praise it as long as I live."

Tanalac is sold by leading druggists everywhere. Adv.

I'm So Tired

Fatigue is the result of poisons in the blood. So when the kidneys fail to purify the blood one of the first indications is unusual and persistent tired feelings and pains in the back.

Neglected kidney troubles lead to years of suffering from rheumatism or develop into such fatal ailments as Bright's disease.

The kidney action is promptly corrected by use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills—the best known regulator of kidneys, liver and bowels.

Mrs. John Ireland, R.R. No. 2, King, Ont., writes:

"I was a great sufferer from severe headaches and bilious spells. I tried a number of remedies without obtaining any benefit until I was advised to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. These completely relieved me and made me feel like a new person. I am very grateful to Dr. Chase's medicine for what they have done for me, and you may use my letter for the benefit of others."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25c a box, all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

CHAPTER XI.

Crumbling Castles.

At the foot of the garden Beulah paused irresolute, the suitcase swaying gently in her hand. She had made no plan for her decisive step events of the day had forced upon her, but the step itself she felt to be inevitable. She was not in love with Jim Travers; he had turned the whole question over in her mind that afternoon, weighing it with judicial impartiality, supposing all manner of situations to try out her own emotions, and she had come to the conclusion that Travers was merely an incident in her life, a somewhat inspiring incident, perhaps, but an incident none the less. The real thing—the vital matter which demanded exceptional action—was the narrow and ever narrowing horizon of her father, a horizon bounded only by material gain. Against this narrowing band of outlook her vigorous spirit, with its dumb, insistent stretchings forth to the infinite, rebelled. It was not a matter of ill will; it was not a matter of love; to her it was a matter of existence. She saw her ideals dimly enough at best, and she would burst every cord of affection and convention rather than allow them to be submerged in the grey, surrounding murk of materialism.

Britain and France To Pay Largest Proportion Of Expenses Of League

Geneva.—Great Britain and France must pay the largest proportion of the expenses of operating the League of Nations, it was found when the committee charged with determining the share each country should pay reported to the assembly of the league. Each must pay 9.25 per cent, while China, India, Italy and Japan were placed in the second category and were called upon to pay 6.55 per cent. In the third category were placed Argentina, Spain, Brazil, Rumania, Jugo-Slavia and Czechoslovakia, whose individual shares were fixed at 5.53 per cent. The scale was graduated downward to .21 per cent, which will be paid by Panama, Paraguay, Salvador, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Honduras and Liberia.

Consideration of an amendment to article 18 of the covenant of the League of Nations, which would exempt technical treaties from registration with the secretariat of the League of Nations, was postponed by the assembly of the league here.

The purpose of the change in the covenant was to make article 18 effective in breaking up secret treaties through registration. A. J. Balfour, of Great Britain, declared it was absurd to expect nations that signed a treaty of defense which they were ready to register and make public, to be required at the same time to disclose the means, military or otherwise, by which they contemplated making their defense.

Memorial Designs For Battlefield

Canadian Commission Has Received Report From Competitors.

Ottawa.—The Canadian battlefields memorial commission has received a report of the professional assessors upon the competitive designs submitted for eight notifiable battlefields in France and Belgium. The competition has been in progress during the past year, and has been participated in by leading architects, sculptors and artists generally. The decision reached by the commission will be communicated to the Governor-General-in-Council, after which the name of the successful sculptor will be announced.

In the first stage of the competition, 160 sets of designs were submitted, and of these 17 were selected for the second stage. The models have all been thoroughly examined by the commissioners.

Instrumental Music And Christian Unity

(By O. E. Payne, Hanna, Alta.)

The dominant issue in Christendom today is the unity of believers. All important denominations, except the Roman Catholics, and nearly all the other ones, are actively participating in conferences looking to that goal. The discovery of a true and acceptable platform which will serve as a basis for a chief of state, while the removal of any obstacles to such unity as of no less concern. Questions of creed, ordination, form of organization and government, and the title to property are important factors, but in the minds of both abolitionists and imperialism, the question of baptism looms above them all.

There is another issue, not less grave, to which the attention of only the few has as yet been drawn. Omitting the Latin Church, there are almost as many Christians who reject instrumental music as admit as there are who employ it and regard it as spiritual. Those who oppose it do so from principle. They will not employ it, will not worship or have fellowship with those who do, and they have their scriptures upon the Scriptures.

Such concede that instrumental music was authorized in the Old Testament, but not in the New, and insist that we are to be guided alone by the latter. They hold that while there is no affirmative prohibition of such music in the Christian Scriptures, they allege that they are our sole and sufficient guide, and that their supposed silence amounts to a prohibition.

As matters have stood, the thoughtful few have realized that this situation constitutes an impasse that must shortly block all progress towards unity, and that the parties who forego instrumental music constitute two or three hundred millions, the largest of the dozen or so bodies which so hold being the Greek Church, to which most Slavs belong, which church is actively laboring for unity.

Many have endeavored to point to a way of escape, but it must be admitted that they have left the fiddle unsound. The King James version and the revision which sheds no new light on the former as regards this question, have seemed to confirm the widely accepted insistence that the New Testament is silent as to instrumental music, and that such music is an innovation.

But all that is changed by the appearance of a remarkable book which has just been issued from the pen of O. E. Payne, of Hanna, Alberta, which is being received with equal joy by those who have conscientiously refrained from using such music. The book is entitled, "Instrumental Music in Scripture," and in a new masterly way that amazes the best informed of both sides, proceeds to show that the New Testament is not silent upon the question, but that Christians are as distinctly directed to employ instrumental music in praising God as they are their voices in song. The inspired writers employ two Greek verbs, psallo, to tell us what manner of music to employ. By the consent of all, the first means to sing. As to psallo, the author quotes a definition from a hundred Greek lexicons covering more than twenty centuries, proving that it means to play an instrument. Every important lexicon is included in the long list. Then, to guard against the possibility of the lexicons erring, about one hundred and fifty examples of the use of the word are gleaned from Greek writers of the centuries before, at the time of and after the period in which the New Testament was being written. About thirty of these excerpts are from contemporaries of the Apostles, in which the context proves to a certainty that the authors used the word to refer to instrumental music.

Having in these and many other ways established the fact that psallo signified the playing of an instrument, and that therefore when, in Greek, Christians are directed to "singing and psallo, they are told to "sing and play," the author proceeds to prove that from the first, translators have so understood the words. A century after the New Testament was written the psallo, the first known translation, which Philip Schaff terms "the queen of versions," because of its accuracy, was from the Greek to the Syriac. "Throughout it renders the Greek psallo as meaning play instruments. A Coptic translation in like way is also cited.

Four hundred years ago Luther pursued a like course, translating the Greek into "singing and playing," in German, means "singing and playing." The several revisions of Luther's great translation continue this rendering as do many other German translations, and all the Danish, Swedish, Norwegian and Dutch translations the author was able to find. It is thus shown that the common English version is exceptional in rendering the two words "sing and make melody," while Luther's English and most other modern "European" translations agree with each other and the lexicon in rendering the verbs to "sing and play."

In thus removing the cause for scruples which many had, and the impasse as regards music toward which the wide-spread unity movement was rapidly traveling, the author of this work, which is the outcome of years of research in the libraries of two continents, has earned the thanks of Christendom.

The book is equally adapted to the learned and unlearned, and the author, O. E. Payne, Hanna, Alta., deserves credit for the production of this interesting work.

Oil Light Beats Electric or Gas

Burns 94% Air

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 100 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal-oil).

The inventor, T. W. Johnson, 255 McBurney Ave., Winnipeg, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him to-day for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency and without experience or money make $200 to $500 per month.

London.—A Reuter cable from Melbourne says that Premier W. M. Hughes referring to an interview with the Australian emigration agent, cabled from London who is alleged to have recommended the despatch of 100,000 emigrants yearly to Australia from the British Isles said it would be folly to pour such a population into Australia until adequate arrangements have been made for making them wealth producing. Premier Hughes thinks the figure quoted is absurd. In his view, the practical position is that from 12,000 to 20,000 might safely be sent out this year.

No Outsiders In

U. S. Merchant Marine

One of Best Purser Discharged Was A Canadian.

New York.—A few days ago, 209 members of the crew of the steamer George Washington were discharged on the ground that they were not citizens and their places taken by men who could "qualify on that ground." One of the men ousted was W. H. W. Mattenson, a Canadian, who was purser on the vessel. Mattenson was regarded as being one of the best pursers in the North Atlantic service, but the rule of the United States Merchant Marine is "no outsiders need apply."

Finds England Depressed

People More Cheerful During War Says Dr. Chown.

Toronto.—Dr. S. D. Chown, general superintendent, of the Methodist Church, who has just returned from the Ecumenical Conference in London, declares that he has never seen England looking so depressed.

"I have been in London under a German raid," said Dr. Chown, "and in the midst of the vicissitudes of the war, but even under those conditions the people seemed to be exhilarated as compared with their present mood."

Flooding Of Steamer

Still A Mystery

Hull of Canadian Importer Found to Be Intact.

Victoria, B.C.—Cause of the flooding of the engine room of the steamer Canadian Importer, of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine, which disabled the steamer more than six hundred miles off the Oregon coast, while the vessel was en route from Vancouver to Sydney, Australia, still remains a mystery.

The vessel was put into dry dock at Esquimalt and this morning an examination of the vessel's hull found her to be intact and her sea valves in perfect working order.

Many Killed In Train Wreck

Cars Take Fire After Collision In French Tunnel.

Paris.—Seventeen of those injured in the tunnel wreck have died in hospitals, according to Havas Agency, bringing the total number of dead up to 23. Exploration of the 17 burned cars has not yet been possible, and it is feared that they contain additional victims.

Paris.—A rear-end collision of two suburban trains in the half-mile tunnel leading to the St. Lazare railroad station led to terrifying scenes and the death of many persons bound on their homeward journey from Paris. The wrecked cars burst into flames, and the disaster was made all the more terrible by the explosion of a gas reservoir.

Ottawa.—A conference of veterinarians to discuss the best means of improving the health of Canada's livestock, is to be called, at Ottawa for Nov. 16 and 17. Probably no livestock producing country in the whole world has a better record for freedom from disease than has Canada, said Dr. Grisdale, deputy minister of agriculture, a condition undoubtedly largely due to the inspection system carried on by the department's health of animals branch. The work of keeping Canadian stock free from disease and giving it an even finer reputation than it now enjoys is not to be done by individuals or small groups in this work, says Dr. Grisdale, which must be done by a centralized organization for all Canada. Accordingly, serious consideration will be given at the forthcoming conference to the formation of a national veterinary association to work in connection with the department.

Representative veterinarians from every province in the Dominion will be invited to attend the conference. The estimated value of Canadian livestock today is $1,078,262,000, and the department believes that any effort to enhance this great national asset must be to the advantage of the whole country.

Dog Had a Busy Time.

An Irishman wanted to sell a dog, but the prospective buyer was suspicious, and finally decided not to buy. The man then told him why he was so anxious to sell. "You see," he said, "I bought the dog and trained him myself. I got him so he'd bark all the time if a person stepped inside the gate, and I thought I was safe from burglars. These men would want me to train him to carry bundles—and I did. If you put anything in his mouth, the spalden'd keep it there till someone took it away. Well, one night I woke up and heard someone in the next room. I got up and grabbed me gun. They were there, three of the burglars and the dog."

"Didn't he bark?" interrupted the other.

"Sorra the fark!" was the reply; "he was too busy."

"Busy," asked the other, "what doing?"

"Carrying the lantern for the burglars," answered the Irishman.

And He Got It

An English schoolmaster promised a crown to any boy who should propose a riddle that he could not answer. After many had tried, a bright youngster said, "Why am I like the Prince of Wales?" The schoolmaster puzzled his wits in vain, and was finally compelled to admit that he did not know. "Why," said the boy, "it's because I am waiting for the crown."

Not To Be Caught

Brown was a testy fellow, and if there was one thing more than another that he hated it was to be caught. As a consequence, he was very suspicious of any deed or word the meaning of which he could not understand. Once when he visited a menagerie he had an interesting chat with one of the keepers, and as he was about to leave the man asked: "By the way, sir, have you seen our black-faced antelope?"

"Ah," thought Brown, "he's trying to make a fool of me." "No," he replied stately. "May I ask with whom your black-faced antelope eloped?"

A Handsome Ermine Wrap

By Made Belmont.

A sumptuous fur wrap is always a serviceable addition to the fashionable woman's wardrobe. This season there are many appealing creations in styles that are decidedly distinctive. This model is made of ermine. It is elaborated with a rippling cape that swings from the back of the collar. The sleeves are very wide at the cuff. A most striking effect is attained by the use of a black fox collar. This reaches almost to the waistline, decreasing in size as it reaches this point. The black fur is also introduced on the lower edge of the cape, where it accentuates the ripples.

The foolish man who built his house on the sand—

He gave an example in folly which anybody can understand.

It isn't so easy, however, to sense the mistake of trying to build the body on foods which lack essential nourishment.

Here, again, is a foundation of sand which gives away when the test comes.

Many a food that tastes good lacks honesty of nourishment to equal its taste. Thus it tempts the appetite into mistakes that often are costly.

Grape-Nuts is a food which helps build bodily endurance for life's stress and storm. The full nourishment of wheat and malted barley, together with the vital mineral salts so necessary to bone structure and red blood corpuscles, with phosphates for the brain, is retained in Grape-Nuts. The long baking process by which Grape-Nuts is made gives the food a natural sweetness and an unusual ease of digestibility and assimilation.

Served with cream or milk, Grape-Nuts is fully nourishing, and whether eaten as a cereal at breakfast or lunch, or made into a pudding for dinner. Grape-Nuts has a particular delight for the appetite. Sold by grocers.
